PERSHING HEADS ARMY TO FRANCE

HABEAS CORPUS PLAN FOILED IN BANKER ARREST

BURNS AGENCY BRINGS MAN THRO WACO ON WAY TO ADA, OKLA.

CHASED IN AUTOMOBILE

J. GREELY JONES OF HOUSTON MUST ANSWER TO SWINDLING CHARGES.

J. Greely Jones, president of the Commonwealth Bank and Trust company of Houston, a concern against which the attorney general's department instituted proceedings more than a month ago, in an effort to close its doors and have its affairs wound up, yesterday afternoon was brought to Waco by automobile at 5 o'clock and later taken to Ada, Okla., in custody of Sheriff Bob Duncan of Ada.

The arrest of Jones was effected by D. S. Winn of Houston, and the moves in the kaleidoscopic and sensational chase were made rapidly after the quarry was first discovered a week ago. There are twenty-one men in the group which has been operating in Texas and Louisiana, in connection with the Houston institution mentioned; so it is claimed; fifteen of these having been arrested. Mr. Winn figured in the arrest of some of those.

Winn is manager of the Burns Detective agency at Houston and his district comprises also a part of Louisiana, with Texas sub-offices at Dallas and El Paso. For a little more than a month arrests have been going on, banks being victimized in Texas and Oklahoma.

But it was difficult to locate Jones. When Winn secured an inkling of Jones' whereabouts Sunday a week ago he got into his car and began the chase.

Chase by Auto.

"It was literally the chase of a car," said Winn yesterday afternoon at the State House. "I had not much to work on except that, but kept at it. I followed the car to Rosenberg, then jumped to Wharton, Eagle Lake, Flatonia, Columbus, Westoff, Smiley and finally to Leesville, where success at last crowned my efforts. I had little sleep during the time, and only captured Jones yesterday morning. He was four miles southwest of Leesville, at a farm house, and I waded in sand up to my ankles to get him. But I got him."

"Fearing that Jones would seek to institute habeas corpus proceedings if he had a chance, I kept him in my car and hit the trail for Austin, where the Oklahoma requisition was honored by Governor Ferguson; this pleased Sheriff Duncan mightily, you may be sure. Jones was restless, but it was of no use. From Austin we headed out this morning (Friday) for Waco, and here we put Jones on the train for Ada. Sheriff Duncan went along to keep him from getting lonesome and straying off somewhere. By the time this is in print Jones will be safely in Oklahoma."

Worked Under Old Charter.

The members of the Commonwealth Bank and Trust company of Houston, and confederates, so it is alleged, worked under an old charter granted in 1880, and the method was to visit banks and present time certificates, and by plausible methods and offers of liberal discounts, get them cashed. Usually some man living in the town or city where the banks were "worked" went along and aided in putting the thing over. The name of J. A. Brown was used in many of the time certificate transactions, and the allegation is that there is no such man in existence.

The specific charge on which Jones is under arrest in connection with the transaction with the Merchants and Planters National bank is "swindling, and uttering as true, bogus instruments."

Good Help

Some people do find good help—both office and home. They may be "lucky," of course. But perhaps it's more like good management than good luck.

Most of the good helpers are found through "Want advertising" or through answering ads. A lady said to the News the other day, "I just know it's the best paper in the world to get help. I had fifty calls in response to my ad, and have the help I wanted."

The phone number is 3465.

BRITISH GUNS IN BOMBARDMENT OF AUSTRIANS

CO-OPERATE WITH ITALIANS TO DRIVE ENEMY FROM ISONZO LINES.

GERMANS ADMIT LOSSES

FALL BACK ON HINDENBURG LINE AFTER EVACUATING BULLECOURT.

British heavy artillery, whose destructive effectiveness made possible successful Somme and Arras offensives, is co-operating with the Italians in their latest attempt to drive the Austrians from the line of the Isonzo. Against the combined British and Italian artillery fire, the Austrians have failed in attempts to recapture lost ground between Gorizia and Tolmino. At four points along the line the Austrians have made repeated attacks, but all efforts were checked. The Italians are fortifying captured positions and preparing for another forward movement. In addition to the taking of much war material, Rome reports the capture of nearly 6,500 prisoners.

Artillery actions only are reported from the British front around Arras. The Germans admit the evacuation of Bullecourt.

Along the Aisne and in Champagne the German crown prince has given up his fruitless counter attacks, but continues to exchange violent artillery fire with the French heavy guns.

Dense German formations, Petrograd says, have unsuccessfully attacked Russian positions near Shelov. There have been no reports of strong German attacks along the line from Riga to the Rumanian-Bukovina border since a few days after the fall of the Romanoff dynasty.

The British light cruiser Dartmouth was damaged by a torpedo and other entente vessels were damaged or destroyed in a raid by an Austrian naval detachment on the coast of southern Italy and in a running fight that followed. The Austrians' force was driven toward Cattaro, across the Adriatic, by a combined British, Italian and French force and forced to take refuge there with one cruiser seriously damaged. Vienna declares that a British cruiser was sunk by a German submarine and that in the Otranto action "Italian destroyers, three merchantmen and twenty armed guard vessels" became victims of the raiding force.

The British steamship Cameronia, of nearly 11,000 gross tons and used by the British admiralty as a transport ship, has been sunk. One hundred and forty men from the vessel are missing.

TEDDY HAS NOTHING TO SAY WHEN TOLD PERSHING GOES ABROAD

By Associated Press. Oyster Bay, May 18.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt declined tonight to comment on President Wilson's refusal of his offer to raise a volunteer army for immediate service in France.

"I have nothing to say tonight," said the former president. "I wired to President Wilson this afternoon offering to raise two divisions for immediate service, and if he so desired, two other divisions."

Colonel Roosevelt expressed keen interest in the news of Major General Pershing's orders to lead an expeditionary force of regulars to France. General Pershing is one of the new regular army officers Colonel Roosevelt has often mentioned as suitable to command the initial American overseas force.

THIS SETTLES IT.

Washington, May 18.—"It would be very agreeable to me to pay Mr. Roosevelt this compliment," said President Wilson, "and the allies the compliment of sending to their aid one of our most distinguished public men, an ex-president who has rendered many conspicuous public services and proved his gallantry in many striking ways. But this is not the time or the occasion for compliment or for any action not calculated to contribute to the immediate success of the war. The business now at hand is undramatic, practical, and of scientific definiteness and precision."

CONSCRIPTION IS LAW—PRESIDENT IN OFFICIAL CALL

evade the requirements of this act or of said regulations, or who in any manner shall fail or neglect fully to perform any duty required of him in execution of this act, shall, if not subject to military law, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, or if subject to military law, shall be tried by court martial and suffer such punishment as a court-martial may direct.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, do call upon the governors of each of the several states and territories, the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia and of the counties and municipalities therein, to perform certain duties in the execution of the foregoing law which duties will be communicated to them directly in regulations of even date herewith.

June 5th the Day.

"And I do further proclaim and give notice to all persons subject to registration in the several states and in the District of Columbia in accordance with the above law, that the time and place of such registration shall be between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on the fifth day of June, 1917, at the registration place in the precinct wherein they have their permanent homes. Those who shall have attained their twenty-first birthday on or before the day here named, are required to register, excepting only officers and enlisted men of the regular army, the navy, the marine corps and the national guard and naval militia while in the service of the United States and officers in the officers' reserve corps and enlisted men in the enlisted reserve corps while in active service. In the territories of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico a day for registration will be named in a later proclamation.

In Case Sickness.

"And I do charge those who through sickness shall be unable to present themselves for registration that they apply on or before the day of registration to the county clerk of the county where they may be for instructions as to how they may be registered by agent. Those who expect to be absent on the day named from the counties in which they have their permanent homes may register by mail, but their mail registration cards must reach the places in which they have their permanent homes by the day named here-in. They should apply as soon as practicable to the county clerk of the county wherein they may be for instructions as to how they may accomplish their registration by mail. In case such persons, as through sickness or absence, may be unable to present themselves personally for registration shall be sojourning in cities of over 30,000 population, they shall apply to the city clerk of the city wherein they may be sojourning rather than to the clerk of the county. The clerks of counties and of cities of over 30,000 population in which numerous applications from the sick and from non-residents are expected, are authorized to establish such sub-agencies and to employ and deputize such clerical force as may be necessary to accommodate these applications.

Massing of Nation.

"The power against which we are arrayed has sought to impose its will upon the world by force. To this end it has increased armament until it has changed the face of war. In the sense in which we have been wont to think of armies, there are no armies in this struggle. There are entire nations armed thus, the men who remain to till the soil and man the factories are

MASONS NOTICE.

A called meeting of Waco Lodge No. 92 A. F. and A. M. will be held in the new Masonic Temple, corner Eighth and Washington Sts., Waco, Texas, this afternoon and to-night, beginning at 5 o'clock. Work in the E. A. degree. All visiting brethren invited. We will serve supper for all.

no less a part of the army that is in France than the men beneath the battle flags. It must be so with us. It is not an army that we must shape and train for war; it is a nation. To this end our people must draw close in one compact front against a common foe. But this cannot be if each man pursues a private purpose. All must pursue one purpose. The nation needs all men; but it needs each man, not in the field that will most please him, but in the endeavor that will best serve the common good. Thus, though a sharpshooter pleases to operate a trip-hammer for the forging of great guns, and an expert machinist desires to march with the flag, the nation is being served only when the sharpshooter marches and the machinist remains at his levers. The whole nation must be a team in which each man shall play the part for which he is best fitted. To this end, congress has provided that the nation shall be organized for war by selection and that each man shall be classified for service in the place to which it shall best serve the general good to call him.

New Call to Duty.

"The significance of this cannot be overstated. It is a new thing in our history and a landmark in our progress. It is a new manner of accepting and vitalizing our duty to give ourselves with thoughtful devotion to the common purpose of us all.

"It is in no sense a conscription of the unwilling; it is rather, selection from a nation which has volunteered in mass. It is no more a choosing of those who shall march with the colors than it is a selection of those who shall serve an equally necessary and devoted purpose in the industries that lie behind the battle line.

"The day here named is the time upon which all shall present themselves for assignment to their tasks. It is for that reason destined to be remembered as one of the most conspicuous moments in our history. It is nothing less than the day upon which the manhood of the country shall step forward in one solid rank in defense of the ideals to which this nation is consecrated. It is important to those ideals no less than to the pride of this generation in manifesting its devotion to them that there be no gaps in the ranks.

"It is essential that the day be approached in thoughtful apprehension of its significance and that we accord to it the honor and the meaning that it deserves. Our industrial need prescribes that it be not made a technical holiday, but the stern sacrifice that is before us, urged that it be carried in all our hearts as a great day of patriotic devotion and obligation when the duty shall lie upon every man, whether he is himself to be registered or not, to see to it that the name of every male person of the designated ages is written on these lists of honor.

Women should remember that as a persuader a kiss always discounts a frown.

Edison Concert

Saturday, May 19th, at 4 p. m.

IN OUR MUSIC ROOM.

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED—NO CHARGE

1. Entr'acte—Chimes of Normandy Planquette
American Symphony Orchestra.

A descriptive interlude, embracing several characteristic themes of the opera. It well shows the light, tuneful style of Planquette.

2. Dublin Mary Brown Hill
Tenor, Irving Kaufman and Chorus.

A typical Irish tune with the lilting rhythm of "Erin's Isle." Kaufman gives a good rendition and one that is exceptionally interesting.

3. Sweet Thoughts of Home Edwards
Christine Miller, Contralto

This selection from Love's Lottery is beautifully done by Christine Miller and is well worth hearing.

4. Ave Maria Bach-Gounod
Soprano in Latin, with Violin Obligato

Probably no record of its kind has ever been recorded—the artistic equal of this one, and as rendered by Rappold and Spalding is exquisitely beautiful.

5. Silver Threads Among the Gold Danks
Soprano, Elizabeth Spencer and Chorus

This is the greatest popular song hit the world has ever known and is sung in its full beauty by Spencer.

6. Valse Pathetique Onivas
Armond Vecsey and His Hungarian Orchestra

On its appearance in America, Vecsey's Orchestra created a veritable sensation. His interpretation of Hungarian music has never been surpassed.

7. In the Garden of Romance Kalman
Soprano and Baritone, Gladys Rice, Frederick Wheeler

This is the leading duet from Little Miss Springtime, the big musical show hit of New York this season.

8. The Kiss Waltz Arditi
Soprano, Mary Carson and Chorus

Mary Carson is a Houston girl who has made good in New York on sheer merit alone. Come and hear her.

Patriotism—and Profit

Such a condition as now exists has never been known before. The call of Duty and the lure of Profit both beckon you in the same direction.

The greater production of farm products of all kinds is being urged as a patriotic duty. And with the ever increasing price such products demand, the farmer will make more money for all he can raise than ever before.

Get a farm and be independent. The man who raises his own food is always going to have an advantage over the non-producer.

If you need money to extend your operations; if you want to borrow money to buy a farm, or if you have Vendors' Lien Notes to sell or extend—I am the man to see. The rate of interest and repayment will suit you.

CUCUMBER CROP WILL BE SAVED

In order to prevent a threatened disaster to the cucumber crop of this section, a crop which has come to be highly important, Professor Hays of A. & M. will this morning and afternoon conduct a spraying demonstration near Waco.

The demonstration will be attended by cucumber raisers and others, and will be on the F. M. Coates truck farm on Elm street in East Waco, beginning at 10 o'clock.

Lice recently have appeared on the cucumbers, due probably to cold weather, and some fields have been badly damaged. It is hoped to stop these ravages, hence the call was sent to A. & M., the response being immediate. The big pickle factories of this city are dependent on the cucumber crop, and a disaster to the crop would be a misfortune.

FLAGS FOR VETERANS

Adj. Bradford Hancock of Pat Cleburne camp, U. C. V., has received notice from E. W. Kirkpatrick, major general commanding the Texas division, asking that all veterans who can do so arrange for their camp to take a large sized United States flag to add to the decorations in Washington.

The circular also calls attention to the fact that, owing to the war between the United States and Germany it will be impossible for Washington to furnish blankets, and each veteran is asked to bring his blanket with him, also a small pillow. Cots will be supplied, it is stated.

BAPTIST DELEGATES TOTALED 5000 AT CRESCENT MEET

There were about 5,000 delegates and visitors present at New Orleans for the Southern Baptist convention, stated Division Freight and Passenger Agent J. W. Byars of the I. & G. N. railroad, who returned yesterday from the Crescent City.

Mr. Byars went down with the two sleepers of attendants from Waco and this district. He said yesterday the trip was an enjoyable one for all, and that some will return today, others lingering for a short time.

A QUEERNESS IN HER HEAD

Caused This Lady Much Suffering, Which She Says Cardui Finally Relieved.

Chadbourne, N. C.—Mrs. M. D. McPherson of R. F. D. No. 1, this place, says: "My first trouble was monthly misery, ever since I was a girl. I had headache, backache, and would stagger....with a queerness in my head. I would faint, and could not stand on my feet. Would suffer so I would just get down on my knees by a chair attime. We would have the doctor and take things to relieve me, but without result.

"I read of Cardui—took 6 bottles and was cured of this painful trouble. Since that I have taken it a bottle at a time as a tonic and find it all or more than recommended. Have taken it before child birth which strengthened me, but my suffering before I heard of Cardui, at was equal to pains. I would have to go to bed for 2 or 3 days each month.

"I am strong and well today. I believe Cardui saved my life, for it is wonderful medicine.

"My sister used Cardui. She, too, knows the great good derived from it.....I praise it every day."

Cardui may be the very medicine you have long been needing. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Composed of purely vegetable ingredients, it cannot harm you, but should surely do for you what it has done for others—help you.

AT SOUTH WACO SCHOOL.

The Mothers' club of the South Waco negro school conducted an interesting program in behalf of Baby Week last evening. Dr. H. L. Smith, one of the colored physicians of the city, delivered the principal address. He stressed these points in speaking on baby hygiene: swatting the fly, removing unsanitary conditions, free use of water, plenty of fresh air and attention to the diet. Other members of the club read interesting papers. This meeting was held through the efforts of Mrs. Dr. H. A. Long.

"THE SEVENTH SIN" AT HIPPODROME.

"The Seventh Sin," the last of the McClure series showing at the Hippodrome theatre today only, is the deadliest of all, for it is the cause of all the rest. What this sin is must not be told here, for it is beautifully and deliciously revealed in the screen story. Beautiful, in that the little girl, Shirley Mason, is able, through strength gained in the other temptations, to reject its influence, and delicate in that she influences her beloved, George Le Guere, to reject it also. George Le Guere is the star of this last feature, a seven-reel climax to the series of five-reel stories concerning Eve Leslie and her life of temptations. He has played Adam Moore throughout the series, the young fellow who has carefully protected Eve, even when she did not request it or welcome it, and now his best work comes as Adam, the man and the artist. The stars of the other stories, Ann Murdock, H. R. Warner, Charlotte Walker, Holbrook Blinn, Nance O'Neal and Clifford Bruce, are all in this story, playing important roles.

BUGLARS ARE BUSY

Waco, Temple and Hillsboro all suffered from burglar raids Thursday night, and the police officers yesterday were busy in efforts to locate the parties.

Here in Waco burglars entered Niemeyer's store at Peach and Elm streets, taking a lot of shoes; Siegel's store at Fourth and Washington, where dress goods were secured, also Tanick's market at Ninth and Webster streets, while efforts were made to break into Frank Wilson's saloon near the Katy depot.

At Temple the Katy ticket office was robbed of $51, while there was a store burglarized at Hillsboro.

During the day yesterday police officers found the shoes which had been taken from the Niemeyer store, the shoes having been hidden under the Cotton Belt bridge in East Waco.

BUYING AT HOME.

A friend of the News, evidently stirred by the Buy-It-Made-in-Texas campaign, called our attention to the things many of us were not buying in Waco.
The wholesaler distributing out of Waco is not helping his community if he buys his automobile tires from a mail order house. The bank which has its checks printed in Dallas or Kansas City isn't swelling by that method the bank deposits of Waco. A retailer who purchases fixtures from Saint Louis isn't promoting the trade of local dealers in those supplies.
These items are taken at random, and the argument is old. The facts are that business is competitive and each successful business head is attempting to obtain in his business the largest value for his money. He is first of all interested in HIS BUSINESS; in a secondary way only in the business of men in other lines. The result is business falls into the channel of value at least cost.
The only just plea the News can make which will be in any way effective is that the seller in Waco keep alive to competition and in the few places where he cannot meet price, make up for price in service value. We may also ask that the buyer really attempt to obtain his commodity in Waco, and that he not continue present outside purchase channels without investigation, simply because in past transactions he believes he has obtained more for his money by so doing.

A TIP TO THE REJECTED.

ONE of the questions that have arisen as a result of the war is how to improve the health of young men rejected for military service.
Trained sanitarians conduct an investigation in a number of European countries when any community fails to yield its proper portion of men for the army. They inaugurate a public health crusade until the required number of men is obtained, paying particular attention to housing conditions, food and air.
Some such investigation will likely be made in this country to determine why the rejected men were below par and what combination of circumstances made them so.
With proper care and advice many of the men who fail to pass the physical tests can be brought up to the standard required.
Physical disability can often be overcome by obeying the laws of health and hygiene, giving up wrong habits and learning new ones. Proper food, sleep and exercise are of the greatest importance.
No one has a right to do as he pleases with his body. The health of every individual is a public asset.
It is the duty of every individual to make his youth physically fit so far as it lies in the power of public health.

And everywhere that Mr. Bryan goes promoting food production the seedsman raises prices.
Ignorance as to just where that new Russian government is at continues. Maybe a mistake was made in not hanging the royalty and pacifists.
Doubling the pay of enlisted men is a first class war measure and congress deserves a pat on the back.
There's no red blood in a turnip and a good many congressmen are turnips.
In talk of peace prepare for war!

TOWARD BROTHERHOOD

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

It is a curious paradox of history that the result of men's falling apart has been this coming together. All strife eventuate in closer unity. Contentions, hates and quarrels by and by lead to better understanding.
It seems as if the best way to become friends is to fight, the best way to understand is to disagree, and the surest road to co-operation is competition.
Historically, for instance. Old France was a cluster of warring countries; only by constant fighting they learned that it did not pay to fight, and in the fullness of time they wrestled themselves into national unity.
Likewise the contending principalities of mediaeval Italy were welded into a modern nation on the anvil of war. The various German kingdoms and duchies came through fierce rivalries into one empire. And Britain became a united kingdom only after Scotch, Welsh and English had hated each other to a finish.
The schoolboy meets a new acquaintance and immediately announces "I can lick you." They go to it hammer and tongs. And thus they become good friends.
Nations, vast groups of men, are much more childish, simple, and primitive than individuals. They are manhandling one another fiercely just now, and have been, off and on, for several thousand years. You would think they are getting farther apart, deepening their misunderstandings, and widening the gaps of prejudice. Not at all. They are just getting acquainted.
Nature, or destiny, has her own devious and confounding logic. She moves by vast indirections. We mortal minds think that the road to universal brotherhood is by argument, by treaties, by mutual profit. Not so. It is by clash and conflict.
The remarkable alliance that is growing between France, Italy, England, Russia, Japan, China and the United States is developing in a few years of war a strength that a hundred years of peace could not have produced.
Even beneath the bitterness between Germans and anti-Germans, beneath the hatred of the deeds of governments and leaders, there is daily growing a solid respect mutually between the opposing peoples. And dynasties pass; peoples remain. Out of all the welter of this time a purified Germany will emerge, equipped to be a friend to the world, shorn of her fatuous egotism by the only shears that can cut such wiry growths—the red shears of war.
Strangely enough, we are fighting toward brotherhood. We are on our bloody way to the parliament of man. We are demonstrating the impossibility of living apart one from another.
The mighty music of history will precede its most majestic harmonies by crashing discords.
Why the necessity of the storm and drang, why the need of the fierce ploughshares of horror and tragedy before the crop of peace and understanding, we may not know. But we do know that "somehow good shall be the final goal of ill," that somehow "He maketh the wrath of man to praise Him."
It's a rocky road, but it's toward brotherhood.

KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESES—The Situation Is Now Worse—By Pop

Little Stories for Bedtime

Something About Sand.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

Because Dusky was proving the smartest of the four children of Reddy Fox, his mother was just a wee bit more proud of him than of the others. Perhaps she didn't love him any more than she did the others. I don't suppose she did. I hope not. Because that wouldn't have been at all right. But she just couldn't help giving him a little more attention than she did Chubby and Stubby and Cutie. You will find that all through life it is that way. Everybody likes to show one who is quick to learn, who does as he is told, and uses his head, how to do things.
So it is not surprising that it was Dusky that his mother took the most pleasure in training in the things that a young Fox must learn. You see, he had showed her that he was eager to learn, and he had used his wits when his sisters and brother had given up without really trying to learn about the things that had puzzled them so. Probably this is why Mrs. Reddy took Dusky off alone one day when the

"I—I don't know as I've learned anything," said he.

Others were taking a nap in their home. "You have learned how to break a trail by jumping to one side and you have learned that running water can hold no scent," she said. "Now I am going to teach you something else, but I am going to leave it for you to find out for yourself what that something else is. We will take a little walk and I want you to follow me with your nose just as you did before. This is all I am going to tell you. The rest is for you to find out for yourself." That sounded like a puzzle of some kind, and Dusky liked puzzles. So he followed his mother with his nose in her tracks. The ground was damp and the scent was so strong that he could have followed her with his eyes shut. Present they came to a little open place which was almost pure sand and on which jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun was shining with all his might. Mrs. Reddy trotted straight across this. Dusky followed. He kept his nose to the ground as he had been told to do. The instant he reached that sand something queer happened. He could no longer smell the scent from his mother's feet. No, sir, he could no longer smell that scent. He kept right on across the sandy place, and the instant he was across the scent tickled his little black nose as strong as ever. By and by they came to another little sandy place and the same thing happened. It was very queer, very queer indeed. It happened two or three times more. Whenever his mother stepped on hot dry sand she left no scent, or else so little that he could hardly smell it at all.

Mrs. Reddy didn't say a word until they were back home once more. Then she smiled at Dusky and asked him what he had learned. Dusky blinked his shrewd, sharp little eyes and looked very thoughtful.
"I—I don't know as I have learned anything," said he. "But I noticed something," he added hopefully.
"I noticed that when you ran across those sandy places I couldn't smell your tracks very well. Sometimes I couldn't smell them at all," replied Dusky.
His mother smiled more than ever. "Then you did learn something," said she. "You learned what I wanted you to learn. I went across those sandy places just to see if you would notice anything. You have learned that hot, dry sand doesn't hold scent from the feet of those who cross it, or if it does it holds very little and that soon disappears. Don't forget it. It is another one of the things every Fox should know. Now I'll go get you a fat mouse."

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES.

Dorothy, aged 4, was present at dinner the other evening when a number of guests were being entertained by her parents, and during the lull in the conversation she began to talk very earnestly: "Why do you talk so much, Dorothy?" asked her father. "Tause I's dot suffin' to say," was the reply.

"Mamma," said little Betty. "my kitty is sick and I have been trying to give her some of my medicine, but she won't take it." "Of course not," replied her mother. "Cats never take medicine when they are ill." "Well, I declare!" exclaimed Betty. "Who'd think a little kitten like that would use the faith cure?"

Harry had just returned from Sunday school and his mother asked him if he had been a good boy. "No; not very," was the reply. "Then you didn't get a good behavior card?" asked his mother. "Oh, yes, I did," replied Harry. "I saved the money you gave me for the collection box and bought two from the other boys."

HETTY A Romance of a Business Girl's Life in Waco

CHAPTER XIV.

I paid for my room with one of my precious dollars, and then ate my breakfast in a little cafe near the postoffice. An early morning crowd of hungry men were eating stacks of hot cakes or waffles, with rivers of syrup and butter dripping from their knives. I wasn't hungry, so my order was only for toast and coffee. The negro waiter seemed to take a solicitous interest in me, hovering over me until I had finished the last bit of the toast and coffee. I never realized until many a day afterwards that the hopes of a tip had been responsible for the tender concern with which he watched over me. He didn't get the tip, for I knew nothing of the system by which one buys reverence and attention.

By this time I knew the two main streets, Austin and Franklin, and as my next address was on Franklin, I determined to walk. The freshness of the day had not begun to wither under the summer heat, so my eight block walk was pleasant. Out of the busy district I walked, into the run-down-at-the-heels residence section of Franklin street. To my eyes it seemed grand, and very much as cities should be. Women in kimonos rocked in the coolness of the vine-covered porches. Children romped on the lawns. I wondered how soon I should be hurrying to my own work with the rest of those who hurried past me. I was anxious to get on the trail of a position, and determined to take the first room that was possibly available.

In that frame of mind I sighted the house. It was one of the curious tragedies of the city. But when Waco was small, it was in the best residence district. As the business section spread out, desirable home-owners had crept farther and farther away, avoiding the encroachments of business. In the rush to get away, the fine old house had been abandoned by its builders, and left to the tender mercies of landladies, who snapped it up eagerly and converted it into one of the many hundreds of boarding houses, more or less desirable, with which the city is filled. The big pillars of Ionic style, the broad steps, now decaying, the big gables with their rotting shingles—all were eloquent of a by-gone day of grandeur.

The house was of a faded slate-blue color. On one side an ambitious honeysuckle vine had taken possession of the porch, and forming a detectable spot for lovers, as I was to find out later. Seated now behind this vine was a youngish woman of about thirty, with a boudoir cap pulled down tightly, hiding her hair. Her sack apron was clean and starched stiffly, and in her lap reposed a shiny tin pan into which she was shelling peas industriously. "Come right in, and excuse me for not getting up. Mrs. Simmons wants these peas, and she told me that I should have to go hungry if I didn't get them done soon."

I sat down on the settee beside her, my suitcase at my feet.
"Ain't it warm today?" she asked hospitably, still shelling peas. She seemed to have no curiosity as to my errand.
"I am looking for a room," and I leaned forward confidentially, for something in her friendly grey eyes made me feel as if I had found a friend. "I think I want to stay here, if the rent isn't too high. Maybe you can tell me."
"Now isn't that funny? Mrs. Simmons was saying just this morning how much she wished she could rent the little back room to a young lady. It ain't much of a room, but I guess you're not over particular, are you?" She smiled a broad-toothed smile that revealed a good set of clean white teeth.
"I don't want to pay more than $3 a week for a room, or $5 for room and board. Do you think—"

Laugh With Us

"Believe me, Grace, when I am away I am thinking every instant of your blue eyes and of your lovely fair hair."
"Tut, tut! I am sure you said the same thing to another girl before me."
"Grace, don't be cruel. I swear solemnly that you are wrong. The girl before you was dark."—Puck.

Pat and Bill were amateur burglars and they conceived the idea of burgling the house of Mr. Jones, the local miller. But to get to the safe they would have to pass through the miller's bedroom. So Bill thought of a brilliant way out of the difficulty.

"Pat," he said, "if he wakes up and hears us we'll mew like cats, and he'll think it's one of his own pussies."
The night duly arrived and they duly gained the miller's bedroom. But just as Bill was crossing the room a board creaked and woke the miller up. "What's that?" he cried.
"Me-ow," answered Bill.
The miller was satisfied. The next minute, however, the board creaked again.
"What's that?" roared the miller.
"Hush, now," said Pat, "be quiet. Sure, an' it's only another cat."

The Military Swing

is the thing for Decoration Day and every other day this Spring and Summer

The martial, self confident air, which is so typical of the soldier and the "custom tailored" man, comes largely from the knowledge of being smartly attired. This conscious pride is not the sole property of "big salaried" men. We are proving every day that in our store "made-to-measure" suits are not a luxury but are within the reach of men of moderate means.

Next was a game of hearts. Mrs. Allen Beall winning the largest number of hearts.

H. Sams, who also presented the blushing young bride-to-be with a loaf of bread tied in ribbons with a little talk to her on the "High Cost of Living." Science Shows Pre-Natal Suffering Has Later Effect.

The subject of childbirth has demanded the attention of the world's best physicians and surgeons for centuries. Later day investigations prove that in reducing the suffering of the mother during the period of expectancy, the health of the coming infant is greatly improved.

Women tell of the safe, dependable preparation known as "Mother's Friend," which is composed of special penetrating oils. It is the prescription of a famous physician and a preparation of such a helpful nature as to be absolutely necessary to the expectant mother.

"Mother's Friend" has been found by thousands of mothers to relieve much pain and suffering at the crisis. The period of expectancy is passed in comfort. All druggists supply "Mother's Friend."

Write to Bradfield Regulator Company, Dept. K. 240 Atlanta, Ga., for valuable guide book for expectant mothers. This book is free to users of "Mother's Friend."

Other members of the committee are S. Hirschberg, J. J. Hutchison, H. Olenbush, W. A. Reese, W. W. Naman, A. J. Garrett, W. V. Crawford, Dr. J. T. Harrington, John P. Wright, Dr. S. P. Brooks and A. H. B. Corneliussen.

CITY INSPECTOR FINDS ORPHANAGE SANITARY

While on a general inspection of the city yesterday, a full and careful inspection of the sanitary condition of the Methodist orphanage on Herring avenue was made by City Health Officer R. F. Minnock and Sanitary Inspector Jim Wakefield.

They were accompanied by Manager Burroughs, of the orphanage. Everything was found in excellent condition, said Health Officer Minnock yesterday afternoon, and the children well cared for and looking well. The kitchen, the plumbing of all buildings, the conditions surrounding the handling of milk and other supplies, were examined, and the same verdict of excellent care and preparation was forthcoming. A fine garden also is doing its part to contribute to the healthfulness and well being of the inmates of the orphanage.

ROY WEBB TO MANAGE FIVE BIG LUMBER YARDS

Roy O. Webb, teller of the Central Texas Exchange National bank, has accepted an important position with R. B. Spencer & Co., and will on June 1 assume his new duties at Stamford.

Mr. Webb will be manager of five lumber yards of R. B. Spencer & Co., in the Stamford section, making his home in Stamford. His family will go with him to Stamford. He is one of the well known young business men of this section of the state, and will have the best wishes of many friends in his new field.

The successor of Mr. Webb at the Central Texas Exchange National bank has not yet been named.

BRIDGE WORK IS STARTED WILL BE RUSHED THROUGH

Work has been commenced on the new concrete bridge on South Fifth street, while material is being assembled for the bridges on South Eleventh and the River Driveway.

The bridge on South Fifth street is torn to pieces and the work will be rushed there as much as possible, so as not to interrupt traffic any more than is necessary.

Street Commissioner J. F. Stamp and City Engineer George B. Gurley will have a good deal to do in addition to their regular duties, in looking after these bridge activities.

CAPTAIN McDONALD WILL RECRUIT WACO ENGINEERS

Captain McDonald of Galveston, who comes to Waco to secure recruits for the engineers' corps, will be here this morning at the Y. M. B. L. and will remain a short time.

Persons wishing to see him will be able to do so very early, at the Y. M. B. L., as he will not be here long. The attractive pay provided in the various departments makes it reasonably certain that there will be a number of applicants.

City Engineer George B. Gurley and J. Walter Cooke have been specially active in arousing interest in the visit of Captain McDonald.

SQUEEGEE STREET WORK WILL START MONDAY

Street Commissioner J. F. Stamp will start the work of putting down squeegee pavement in earnest Monday, and quite a little schedule will be carried out.

The block on Washington from Sixth to Seventh will be given a coating, connecting with the block from Seventh to Eighth on that street. Then work will begin on the brick streets, all of which are to be given a squeegee covering; the first work of this character will be done on Franklin, and the others will be reached as rapidly as possible.

JUDGE ERWIN J. CLARK RETURNS FROM CAMP

Judge Erwin J. Clark has returned from the officers' training camp at Leon Springs, having been rejected on account of a slight physical defect. He was not rejected until the last test in the final examination. He will not resume the bench in the Seventy-fourth district court for several weeks, owing to the fact that he must undergo a slight operation. Judge Clark thinks the location at Leon Springs is ideal for a training camp. A few others from Waco also have been rejected on account of slight defects, the examination being very rigid.
